

Recruited position: (Senior-) Analyst

About: CMG is a specialized European management consulting and research firm with presence in Zurich, Munich and Beijing. It provides original, fact-based and calibrated China policy and market analysis to advise European corporate, investment and public sectors on China strategies, cooperation concepts and negotiations.

Working location: Beijing, Munich, or remote/upon agreement (remote only based in Europe or Asia/China time zones)

Your role as CMG (Senior-) Analyst?

- Joining as a (Senior-) Analyst is the most senior entry point with CMG that does not specifically require prior management consulting experience
- You autonomously lead research and analysis along a specific analytical framework and using sense-checked hypotheses within a client project, drafting outputs in PPT, using internal and external resources to iterate towards a solid output and engage in client interactions to present and advise on your conclusions

What characterizes you?

- Relevant Master-level educational background in economics, business administration, political economy, public policy, political science, IR, plus ideally in relation to and with on-the-ground exposure to China
- A minimum of 2-3 years of relevant working experience in research, analytical or consulting roles in analyzing China's policy, market and business environment
- Demonstrated experience, interest or familiarity with business questions and context
- Full (reading) fluency in Chinese (at minimum HSK 5) and English – command of other European languages like German, French or Italian a plus
- Ability to switch analytical lens between macro/contextual to micro-level business administration factors
- Strategic thinking, outstanding analytical, conceptual and problem-solving skills, patience to conduct robust research (“bottom-up”), solid quantitative skills and communication/didactic talent
- Professional service mindset with ownership, creativity, can-do attitude, personal resourcefulness, cross-cultural awareness and agility to adapt to ever changing market and client needs
- Highest level of professional ethics in working on confidential client projects and ability to inspire trust in client communication and interaction
- Team-player and seeing debate/discussion as a resource to test and optimize own thinking and products

Application document (1 PDF)

- Motivation letter (max. 1 page) and CV (max. 1 page) unified in one PDF. Please name your file as follows: “Application_Surname Name_Analyst” and send it to career@chinamacro.ch.

